

Mercer Bullard

Associate Professor of Law at the University of Mississippi School of Law
President and Founder, Fund Democracy
Vice President, Plancorp, LLC

Professor Bullard is an Associate Professor of Law at the University of Mississippi School of Law, where he teaches courses on securities, banking, corporations, corporate finance, and law and economics. He is also the Founder and President of Fund Democracy, an advocacy group for mutual fund shareholders, a Vice President with financial planning firm Plancorp LLC, an Accredited Investment Fiduciary[®] and a member of the SEC's Investor Advisory Committee and the CFB Board's Public Policy Council. He is also the faculty advisor to the Self Regulatory Organization for Independent Investment Advisers (SROIIA).

Professor Bullard has testified before House, Senate, Department of Labor and State committees on mutual funds, hedge funds, 529 plans, 401(k) plans and other regulatory issues. He has published articles on a wide range of securities law topics and advocated shareholder positions on a variety of regulatory matters. He formerly served as the consumer representative on the Financial Planning Association's Government Relations Committee and as the Vice Chair of the Mississippi Secretary of State's Securities Law Committee. Named by Investment News as one of the top 20 influencers in the financial services industry in 2009, he has appeared on NBC Nightly News, CBS Evening News, CNBC, and other national broadcasts; been featured in Business Week, Money Magazine and other publications; and quoted in most major newspapers and financial publications on finance- and securities-related matters.

Professor Bullard was formerly an Assistant Chief Counsel at the Securities and Exchange Commission. He previously clerked for a U.S. Court of Appeals judge and practiced securities law in Washington, DC. He has a law degree from the University of Virginia School of Law, a masters degree from Georgetown University, and a B.A. from Yale.