Investment Advice =

- (1) render advice as to the value of securities or other property, or make recommendations as to the advisability of investing in, purchasing, or selling securities or other property;
- (2) on a regular basis
- (3) pursuant to a mutual agreement, arrangement, or understanding with the Plan, Plan fiduciary or IRA owner, that
- (4) the advice will serve as a primary basis for investment decisions with respect to Plan or IRA assets, and that
- (5) the advice will be individualized based on the particular needs of the Plan or IRA.

If all five parts of this test are satisfied, you will be considered a “fiduciary” under ERISA and/or the Code

Investment Advice & Rollover Recommendations =

If you provided “investment advice” regarding the individual’s tax-advantaged account(s) prior to recommending the rollover, then the recommendation will be considered fiduciary under ERISA; and/or

If there is a reasonable understanding that you will be providing investment advice on the assets rolled over, then the recommendation will be considered fiduciary under the Code.

In other words, the only time a recommendation will not be considered fiduciary under ERISA or the Code is when you did/will not provide investment advice before or after the rollover.

Fiduciaries are prohibited from...

- Self-Dealing e.g., providing advice that can increase your compensation;
- Dual Representation e.g., acting on behalf both buyer and seller in a transaction involving plan or IRA assets; and/or
- Receiving third-party payments e.g., receiving compensation from anyone other than the client (i.e., commissions, 12b-1, trail and/or solicitor fees, etc.) for providing investment advice or exercising discretion

You must comply with a Prohibited Transaction Exemption (“PTE”) to avoid significant penalties (i.e., disgorgement, restoration of losses, excise taxes, etc.)

Advice

DOL Prohibited Transaction Exemption 2020-02 indicates that a recommendation to roll over assets from a plan to IRA, plan to plan, IRA to IRA or IRA to plan (as well as recommendation to change account types e.g., commission to fee-based) will be considered fiduciary “investment advice” if:

- you provided investment advice to the client regarding his/her tax-advantaged retirement account(s) prior to making the recommendation; and/or
- you and the client have a mutual understanding that you will provide investment advice on a “regular basis” after the recommended transaction (e.g., on how to invest the rollover IRA)

If the firm or any affiliate(s) will receive more compensation or third-party payments (i.e., commissions, 12b-1, revenue sharing, solicitor fees, etc.), then you must satisfy the conditions of a PTE (i.e., 2020-02).

Education = Describing

- terms or operation of the plan/IRA;
- benefits of plan/IRA participation or increasing plan/IRA contributions;
- retirement income needs, impact of preretirement withdrawals on retirement income, varying forms of distributions, including rollovers, annuitization and other forms of lifetime income payment options;
- advantages, disadvantages & risks of different forms of distributions, including rollovers;
- product features and fee & expense information; and/or
- investment alternatives available under the plan or IRA.

- PTE 20-02 became effective on Feb. 16, 2021, including new interpretations relating to rollover advice;
- Compliance with TEP/Impartial Conduct Standards is available in lieu of full PTE compliance until Dec. 20, 2021;
- PTE and TEP apply to “investment advice” only (not discretion);
- Rollover recommendations are now fiduciary acts under ERISA & IRC if advice relationship existed prior to recommendation (in a tax-advantaged account) or will post (in the IRA);
- PTE and TEP allow “a wide variety of payments that would otherwise violate [PT] rules” in connection with investment advice (vs. discretion), including rollover advice and principal transactions; and
- Full PTE compliance will require adoption of policies reminiscent of 2016 Fiduciary Rule; and
- While enforcement of PTs is limited to DOL and IRS, violation of policies can be a predicate for other regulators (e.g., SEC, FINRA, OCC, etc.) and/or claimants/plaintiffs (i.e., breach of fiduciary duty, failure to supervise, etc.).

1. Investment advice, at the time it is provided, is in Best Interest of the Retirement Investor:
 - ✓ Duty of prudence; and
 - ✓ Duty of loyalty.
2. Financial Institutions, Investment Professionals, their affiliates and related entities Receive no more than reasonable compensation, directly or indirectly.
3. Financial Institutions' and Investment Professionals' statements to the Retirement Investor about the recommended transaction and other relevant matters are not, at the time the statements are made, materially misleading.

- Compliance with Impartial Conduct Standards.
- Written disclosures re:
 - ERISA and/or IRC fiduciary acknowledgment;
 - description of services to be provided and material conflicts of interest; and
 - for rollovers, documentation of specific reasons for why the recommendation is in the client's best interest.*
- Compliance procedures and recordkeeping requirements that allow the DOL and IRS (and other regulators) to obtain access to a Financial Institution's records.
- Retrospective review "certified" by Senior Executive Officer.
- Self-correction provision if violations are discovered before DOL investigates.

 Applies to: i) rollover from plan to another plan; ii) from an IRA to a plan; iii) from an IRA to another IRA; or iv) from one type of account to another (e.g., commission to fee-based).*

Three requirements regarding Policies & Procedures =

1. Establish, maintain and enforce written policies & procedures prudently designed to ensure that the Financial Institution and Investment Professionals comply with the Impartial Conduct Standards;
2. Policies & procedures mitigate Conflicts of Interest to the extent that a reasonable person reviewing the policies and procedures and incentive practices as a whole would conclude that they do not create an incentive for a Financial Institution or Investment Professional to place their interests ahead of the interest of the Retirement Investor; and
3. Document the specific reasons that any recommendation to roll over assets from a Plan to another Plan or IRA, from an IRA to a Plan, from an IRA to another IRA, or from one type account to another (e.g., from a commission-based account to a fee-based account) is in the Best Interest of the Retirement Investor.

Policies & Procedures:

Section II(c)(2), Financial Institutions' policies and procedures are required to mitigate conflicts of interest to the extent that a reasonable person reviewing the policies and procedures and incentive practices as a whole would conclude that they do not create an incentive for a Financial Institution or Investment Professional to place their interests ahead of the interest of the Retirement Investor.

You must consider and document...

- i) The Retirement Investor's alternatives to a rollover, including leaving the money in his or her current employer's Plan, if permitted,
- ii) selecting different investment options;
- iii) the fees and expenses associated with both the Plan and the IRA;
- iv) whether the employer pays for some or all of the Plan's administrative expenses; and
- v) the different levels of services and investments available under the Plan and the IRA.

For rollovers from another IRA or changes from a commission-based account to a fee-based arrangement, a prudent recommendation would include consideration and documentation of the services that would be provided under the new arrangement.

According to the SEC...

In addition to investments, services and fees, financial professional should consider a variety of additional factors to compare the customer's existing account to the IRA, including:

- i) Ability to take penalty-free withdrawals;
- ii) Application of required minimum distributions;
- iii) Protection from creditors and legal judgements;
- iv) Holdings of employer stock; and
- v) Any special features of the existing account.

"... certain factors may have more or less relevance, depending upon the customers' goals and objectives" and "an IRA having 'more investment options' [can not be the sole] basis for recommending a rollover."

Alternative Data & Software:

If the Retirement Investor is unwilling to provide the information, even after a full explanation of its significance, and the information is not otherwise readily available, the Financial Institution and Investment Professional should make a reasonable estimation of expenses, asset values, risk, and returns based on publicly available information. The Financial Institution and Investment Professional should document and explain the assumptions used and their limitations. In such cases, the Investment Professional could rely on alternative data sources, such as the most recent Form 5500 or reliable benchmarks on typical fees and expenses for the type and size of Plan at issue.

Model Language for Fiduciary Acknowledgement:

“When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours.”

See Preamble at p. 129

Disclosure Requirements:

Sec. II(b)(3) requires Financial Institutions to provide Retirement Investors, prior to engaging in a rollover recommended pursuant to the exemption, with documentation of the specific reasons that the recommendation to roll over assets is in the best interest of the Retirement Investor. This requirement extends to recommended rollovers from a Plan to another Plan or IRA as defined in Code section 4975(e)(1)(B) or (C), from an IRA as defined in Code section 4975(e)(1)(B) or (C) to a Plan, from an IRA to another IRA, or from one type of account to another (e.g., from a commission-based account to a fee-based account).

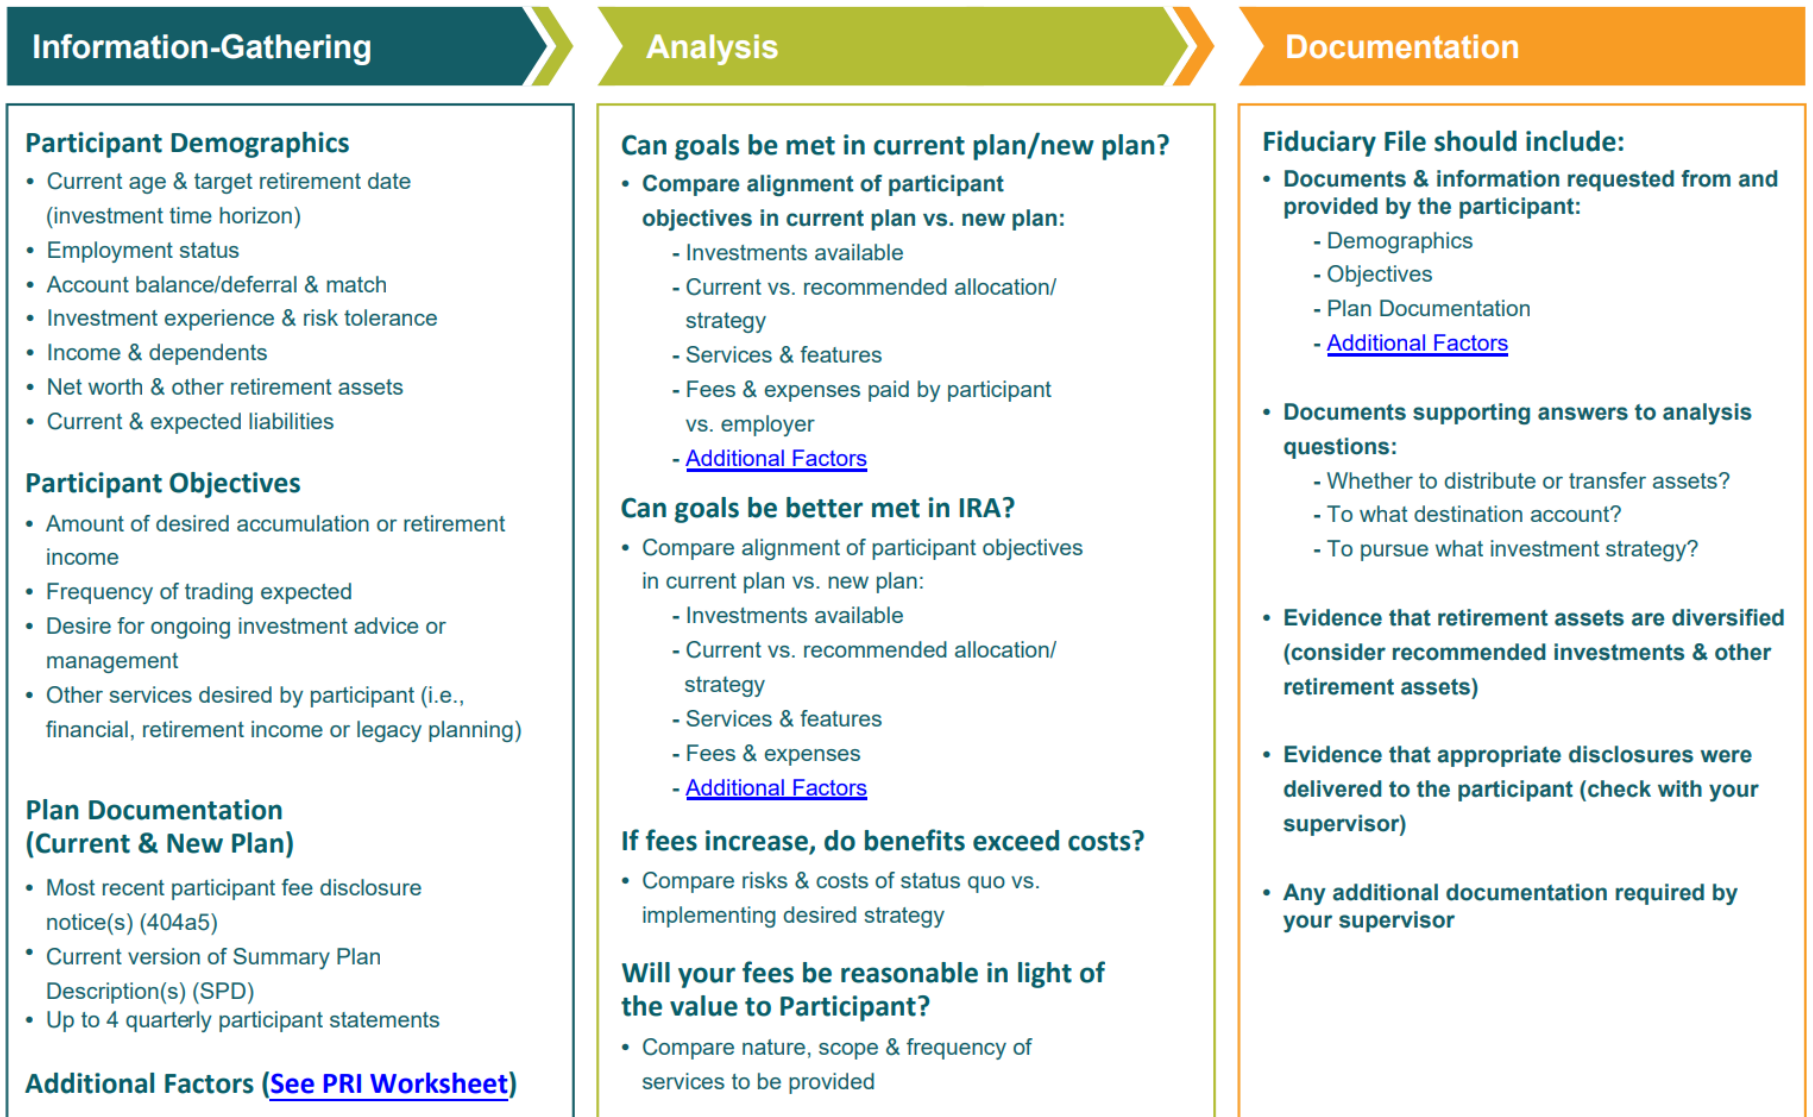

Five requirements regarding a retrospective review =

1. Conduct a retrospective review, at least annually, reasonably designed to assist the Financial Institution in detecting and preventing violations of, and achieving compliance with, the Impartial Conduct Standards and the policies and procedures governing compliance with the exemption;
2. Methodology & results of the retrospective review are reduced to a written report provided to a Senior Executive Officer;
3. Who certifies, annually, that: A) s/he has reviewed the report; B) policies and procedures are in place to achieve compliance with conditions of the exemption; and C) a prudent process is in place to modify such policies and procedures as business, regulatory, and legislative changes and events dictate, and to test their effectiveness on a periodic basis, the timing and extent of which is reasonably designed to ensure continuing compliance with the conditions of the exemption;
4. The review, report and certification are completed no later than six months following the end of the period covered by the review; and
5. The report, certification and supporting data is retained for a period of six years and are made available to the Department within 10 business days of request.

PRI has created a Guide to Recommending Distributions & Rollovers promote a consistent process;

Three steps:

1. Info Gathering;
2. Analysis; and
3. Documentation;

| Factors | 401(k) | IRA | Notes |
|---|--------|-----|---|
| Access to withdrawals at age 55 without additional 10% tax | + | - | Participants who separate from service with their employer may be able to begin taking distributions at 55 vs. 59 ½ in an IRA without incurring 10% additional tax. |
| Access to withdrawals in certain circumstances without additional 10% tax | - | + | Withdrawals may be made in the event of unemployment, higher education expenses or first-time home-buyers (but see Contingency planning below) without incurring 10% additional tax. |
| Delaying RMDs | + | - | If still employed, the 401(k) may allow money to stay in the plan (for non-5% owners) vs. RMDs at age 72 in an IRA. |
| Spousal Delay of RMDs after employee's death | - | + | A surviving spouse who is named as beneficiary can to be treated as the new owner of the IRA or can withdraw all of the decedent's IRA and roll it over to an IRA in his or her name. The surviving spouse thereby avoids the need to receive distributions in accordance with the after-death minimum distribution rules (or even the surviving spouse exception from those rules). Instead, the surviving spouse need not be concerned with required minimum distributions until he/she reaches age 72. Spousal RMDs are not impacted by the changes to the non-spousal beneficiary rules under the SECURE Act. |
| Source of RMDs | - | + | Participants must withdraw RMD from each 401(k) or other plan account. If there are multiple IRAs the RMDs required for each IRA may be withdrawn from any IRA. |
| Creditor and/or legal protection | + | - | IRAs are protected by state laws that vary from state-to-state. |
| Employer Stock | + | - | If the participant holds appreciated employer stock in the 401(k), rollover to an IRA may result in loss of the ordinary income exclusion for net unrealized appreciation. |
| Consolidation of retirement accounts | - | + | Not all 401(k) plans permit rollovers from other plans; rolling over to IRA can enable participant to consolidate accounts |
| Naming Beneficiaries | - | + | Many plans will require 401(k) accounts be cashed out upon death and could trigger undesirable tax consequences, whereas IRAs typically provide more flexibility to heirs in terms of taking RMDs (non-spousal beneficiaries will now be limited to 10 years for distributions as a result of the SECURE Act). Also, federal law requires spousal consent before naming non-spouse beneficiaries on 401k accounts but only some states require such consent in IRAs. |
| Contingency planning | + | - | Employer plans may offer loans and hardship withdrawals whereas taxes and penalties will likely apply to early IRA distributions. |
| Broad range of distribution options, including guaranteed income | - | + | Distribution options from a 401(k) may be more limited than in an IRA; not all 401(k) plans offer annuity options. |
| Desire to sever relationship with former employer | - | + | Participant may no longer wish to have contact with the former employer. |
| Roth tax treatment | - | + | Not all 401(k) plans offer designated Roth accounts; rolling over can get participant access to Roth conversion. |
| Control of the account | - | + | Employers decide if/when/how to change a 401(k), not participants. IRA decisions are made by the account owner, not an Employer. |
| Tax Withholding | - | + | Most withdrawals from a 401(k) are subject to a 20% federal withholding tax. Some states impose a withholding tax as well. Withdrawals from IRAs are not subject to any federal withholding tax. State withholding tax rules vary. |

- Educate financial professionals and supervisors as to new interpretations;
- Evaluate policies and procedures to ensure compliance w/ TEP;
- Determine whether rollovers are recommended -- If not, get attestation signed by client -- If so, document (internally, for now) the basis upon which it is deemed to be in client's best interest;
- Review marketing materials, contracts and disclosures to determine whether they align w/ new interpretations and PTE 20-02 conditions;
- Determine how firm will gather required and evaluate information, provide written disclosures and retain documentation; and
- Contact us with any questions and/or to schedule a demo of Decision Optimizer.
