

Omid Shakernia, Ph.D.
Vice President, Research

Dr. Omid Shakernia conducts quantitative research in the areas of econometrics and global tactical asset allocation. Prior to joining Research Affiliates, he was a senior technical specialist at Northrop Grumman where he was the principal investigator in charge of research and technology development.

Omid received his Master of Financial Engineering from the UCLA Anderson School of Management. He received his Ph.D., MS, and BS in electrical engineering and computer sciences from UC Berkeley.