

Barry Flagg

Barry D. Flagg is the inventor and founder of Veralytic[®], Inc., the only patented online publisher of life insurance pricing and performance research and product suitability ratings. Veralytic is the product of his unique background as both the youngest Certified Financial Planner (CFP[®]) in history schooled in the investment business, as well as a life insurance practitioner consistently ranked in the top 1% of the industry. His experience in financial product analysis, life insurance sales and marketing, and his success in managing large life insurance portfolios for affluent individuals and growth companies, brings an unparalleled advantage to his presentations. As a speaker, author, and educator, Barry is a recognized expert in applying Prudent Investor principles to life insurance product selection and portfolio management having addressed the world's most prestigious corporations and industry groups, been published/featured in the industry's most-read magazines, and been cited in legal and accounting books and journals.